

A New Look For a New Year - GraySail LLC Releases Version 2.0 of their website

Since the addition of the Justinsane Design, Inc. staff at the beginning of 2004, we've been working on a major website update. The new version of the website has just been released and it boasts more than a great new look: it also provides the public with the first glimpse of exactly what GraySail can now offer.

Designed by Levi Boudreau, GraySail's Senior Web Designer, and featuring the art work of former Justinsane Design employee Jose DeCecco the site embodies the feeling of GraySail's name and showcases the design talent of the firm.

GraySail LLC is a web and information services company supported by the University of South Carolina Technology Incubator. Specializing in the area of complex data problems, GraySail provides a variety of business and technical consulting and development services. Along with solutions related to data architecture and analysis GraySail also provides marketing media services such as graphic design, web design, logo development, and flash animation design.
