

Press Release

For Immediate Release

July 08, 2005

GraySail to debut Higher Education service suite with red carpet style

GraySail is going to Hollywood. Coaster, the new low risk open source service suite for higher education, will be formally introduced to the IHE market at Syllabus2005, a higher education information technology conference produced by Campus Technology. The Coaster service suites helps institutions of higher education to implement feature-rich and standards-compliant portal environments that addresses profile administration, event and calendar management, alumni and development community facilitation, appointment and interview scheduling, admissions CRM needs, and more.

GraySail will be exhibiting on July 26 and 27 in booth #414 at Syllabus2005. The Syllabus conferences showcase technologies that offer strategic advancement for higher education, and are targeted at institution administrators, IT professionals, and faculty.

GraySail LLC is a Web and data services company based on Columbia, South Carolina. Specializing in the area of complex data problems, GraySail provides a variety of business/technical consulting and development services. Along with solutions related to data architecture and analysis GraySail also provides marketing media services such as graphic design, web design, logo development, and flash animation design.

For additional information, please contact Leslie Shearer, Marketing Director for GraySail LLC by phone or e-mail at 803.227.0787, or leslie@graysail.com.